OMMUNICATED BY THE SPIRIT MEDIUMS. The first of the consultatory meetings of the Fillmore whigs—to be continued during the week—was held last evening. pursuant to announcement, in the Chinese Buildings. Broadway. Our reporter, who was sent to take notes of the proceedings, was refused admittance by the doorkeeper he not having the billet of invitation from the committee. He informed this very polite gen tleman that he came not to take part in the proceedings but to attend to his professional duties. Thereupor Cerberus retired into the room to consult with his supe riors, and on his return announced as the unalterable fix of the authorities that he could not be admitted, the meet-ing being a strictly private one, and he not being pro-ring origing a strategy prease one, and in mote being provided with the necessary passport. But our reporter was not to be thus churlishly prevented from announcing to the expectant worth the great and important events of this meeting, big with the fate of Fillmore and the place hunters, and immediately proceeded to a ready reporter of what was then occurring in the Star One of the common of the property of the famous "peeting Tom of Corentry," who kaced as a ready reporter of what was then occurring in the Star One of the common of the credibility of these commonstation, but we give them as dictated to our reporter, who was authorized by the medium to refer the property of the ready and reliability to the lion. (Great applause.)

Mr. INBERTH, of the Custom House, a corpulent little man, stood up on his seat, in great excitement.—He was no speaker, indeed he had never ventured to speak in public before; but at such a time as this, when his interests were at stake, and when his vested rights were in danger, he almost felt a rort of—of—desperate inspiration—no, that was not the word; his friends present knew however, what he meant. (Cheers, and cries of bravo; go on. go on.) Oh, it was an easy thing to say go on, but where were the words to come from. (Laughter.)
He could, at all events, promise this meeting he would not flinch—inever say die." was his motto, and he could calculate on the support of seventy-three subs, and an unlimited number of boys, who were ready for anything, and just the sort of fellows to shout for Fillmore, fight for him, and if he could only manage it, vote three times for him, Great applause for the speaker, who was ciapped on the back by the friends beside him, in ackowledgment of his promised valuable services.)
Mr. Jos Stock said that, as he was a business man in Wall street, he had not much acquaintance with the bhoys, and therefore, could not promise any support in that way; but he could bring what are always found good substitutes—the yellow boys, fresh from the mint—
the sinews of peace too.

The Bowery was represented by Mr. Rumcock, before mentioned, who said that he would assure the mesting that, in the hour of need, the Bowery boys would not be found wanting. (Cheers for the young gentlemen and their patron.)

Mr. William Weillow said that he would be a staunch friend to Mr. Fillmore, as far as $2.000 a year could afford him to be. He was also authorized to make a similar statement for his brother employées in the Custom House, in proportion to the emoluments of their respective offices.

Mr. Villiam Extacat, a young selon of Upper Tendom, with a darkly dyed monstache, which he kept turning with the forefinger and thumb of a band engloyed in the most delicate pink kid, stammered out a string of some unfutchlighly plances. He had just—merely crossed over from—the opera—charming Anna Thiltam—thought as he had been honored with an invitation, it would be—mourems ton—not to drop in—but as to the objects of the convocation—he and his benored father, perfectly coincided with the views of that meeting. He really could not give any proximate idea of the number of the votes and voices they could influence—indeed, he had not given any attention to politice—so conformedity stupid—but their patronage and co-operation might be depended on.

Mr. Burner, of Corlear's book thought the young exquisite that epoke last ought to be sent home to his mammes in the Fifth avenue. Such a manikin was not wanted there, and besides he thought the was decidedly ander the influence of segars and cegulac.

Mr. Tronows Presence of fluencher after, called the gentieman to urder. He had no right to insult his friend, by these informations, Currear, and cries of Turn out the dandles.

fession, they would join in crushing that most illiberal and illegal movement of the temperance fellows, and not allow their rights and privileges to be interfered with. (Three groans for the Maine law.) He was satisfied with that expression of the high sentiments of this meeting; and in return for their support and sympathy, he would prove to them how worthy of it he and his brother merchants were.

Another gentlemen whose name the medium could not properly understand, hoped that this meeting would pledge themselves to oppose the Galway steam line, which if carried through, would swamp their party by the great masses of democrats it would pour in upon them from Ireland—Collins' steamships, on the contrary, brought over none but the whigs, who could afford to pay for a passage in these occan palaces.

After some further discussion, the particulars of which were very confusedly given by the ministering spirit—who was by this time tired of his reportorial duties, and not at all disposed to be communicative—the meeting adjourned to the bar, where the members regaled themselves with gin slings and brandy cock-tails, ad libitum.

The foregoing is an accurate record of the communications made by the medium to our reporter. This method of reporting is very expensive, the medium insisting on a high price, as she informed us that her time was very valuable. In connection with this point she stated that Mrs. Fish takes in a hundred dollars a night by her ministrations, by which she keeps Greeley and the philosophers straight in respect to eternity. If the members of this whig committee are not more polite to our reporter for the remainder of the week's session, we will only be forced—in our anxiety to minister to the public curiosity—to have recourse to the same medium, by which we are this morning enabled to give the details of last night's proceedings. Indeed, it seems we must soon add to our repertorial corps a spiritual communicant for our own special information.

THREATENED REVOLUTION—THE TWO TABIFFS—AN EXPEDITION TO MATAMORAS—THE TEHUANTEPEC TREATY, ETC.

The schooner Lucy Ann, Capt. Snell, arrived last night, from Tampico, whence she sailed on the 3d

We learn from Capt. S., that a revolutionary outbreak was momentarily expected by the people, partly on account of the non-payment of the government troops, and partly in consequence of the great disadvantages arising from the port regulations latterly established by government; the tariff of duties being fifty per cent higher at that place that at Matamoras. There were no vessels in port at the time of sailing, and although it is one of the best places for trade on the coast, so disastrous had been the unequal regulations to the mercantile interests, that arrivals were very few indeed. Capt. S. was also informed by Mr. Chase, the American Consul, that the fiscal affairs of the nation were in a very deranged and deteriorated condition, and that at Tampico, in particular, the people were in a constant ferment, in consequence of the general maladministration of the governmental concerns.

From these circumstances, it is supposed that the present high rate of duties had been imposed at Tampico, the most favorable place of trade, with the hope of building up, in some measure, if possible, the fortunes of those in power.

Three or four days previous, a body of troops, numbering 500 strong, had embarked for Matamoras, probably to quell some fillibustering expedition.

[From the New Orleans Bulletin. April 19th]

By an arrival at New Orleans, from Vera Cruz, papers from the city of Mexico to the 3d inst. have been received.

The Moniteur Republicano contradicts the rumor that Letcher, the American Minister, had stated to the government that all diplomatic intercourse would be suspended between the United States and Mexico, if the Congress of the latter republic did not ratify by the 8th of April, the treaty relative to the right of way across the Isthmus of Tehuantepec.

A company is forming in Mexico to work the gold mines at Sonoro. The scheme is favored by the general government, who promised to send seven hundred troops, under the lead of an experienced officer. The troops will have two field pieces.

Murder and robbery are, as usual, of frequent occurrence in the several States of Mexico, and especially in the capital, where the organization of the pslice is most sadly deficient.

The city council of Vera Cruz have been authorized by the central government, to enter free of the ordinary custom duties, a quantity of flour equal to that which was lost during the late shipwrecks.

The contract between the managers of the Teatro Nacional of Mexico and the agent of Mr. Maretzek, for the Italian opera, was signed on the 26th ult.

Senor Augusta Visca, a young man, belonging to one of the most wealthy and influential families of Saltillo, was recently murdered in cold blood on the highway; near the town of Parras.

The licenciado D. Alemente Francisco Robles was appointed one of the Judges of the Supreme Court of the State of Chiapas.

The Legislature of Durango have ordered the formation of a corps of volunteers, to protect the State from the inroads of the Indians.

The Legislature of Darango have ordered the formation of a corps of volunteers, to protect the State from the inroads of the Indians.

The Moniteur Republicano publishes a series of articles, emanating, no doubt, from an official source, against the propriety of recognizing the validity of the privilege graated formerly to D. Jose Garay, and also against the legality of the transfer of said privilege to any American company.

Baltimore. April 26, 1852.

The New Orleans papers contain some further items of Mexican news of interest.

A report was very prevalent in Mexico that a pronunciamento had been made in Vera Cruz, but it originated entirely in the fears of such an evest, produced by the excitement at Vera Cruz on the tariff subject. The government evidently became alarmed at the energetic remonstrances from Vera Cruz and Tampico. The effect is seen in the re-establishment of the old tariff at Matamoras.

An important commercial order, relative to Port Carmen, had been published. It provides that vessels coming from foreign perts, after having discharged cargoes at Vera Cruz, may proceed to Port Carmen, load with dyewoods, return to Vera Cruz, and receive passengers, without being obliged to pay tonnage duties twice in the latter port.

A bill had been introduced in Congress extending, for ten years, the right granted to the city of Tampico of imposing a tax of a bit (a New York shilling) a barrel on imported foreign flour.

It is said that the Ministry of War had been offered to General La Vega, and that as soon as his acceptance is received, Senor Ribles, the present minister, will resign.

Kossuth Excitement in New Jersey.—Catholic Priest Mobbed.—A serious disturbance took place on Sunday evening, about dusk, at the German Catholic church in William street, near High street. It is somewhat difficult to accertain the precise facts, but it is understood that the German Catholic priest has uttered language against Kossuth personally, both in public discourses and private conversations. This incensed many of Kossuth's Protestant friends, and a large crowd, numbering about 100, composed chiefly of Germans, collected from various parts of the city, had gathered around the church in Shipman street with violent and enraged language. A few stones were thrown, which shattered one of the shutters in the priest's dwelling, which is attached to the rear of the church. The priest, becoming alarmed, rang the church bell, which raised an alarm of fire, and the crowd finally dispersed. Smaller parties, it is said, have since been in the vicinity of the church, loudly expressing their anger.—Newark Advertiser, April 20.

ANOTHER CASE OF MANNALUGHTER—PATAL EFFECTS OF INTEMPERANCE—CORONER'S INQUEST, AND VERDICT OF THE JURY.

Coroner Ives was yesterday called to hold an inquest, at No. 351 Ninth street, on the body of James Porter, a native of Ireland, who came to his death in an affray with Samuel Kane, caused by intemperance. The affray took place on Thursday last, and the deceased died on Sunday, from the effects of the violence and intemperance. The cytience as testified to, is as follows:—

Thomas Waters, sworn, says—I keep a grocery at No. 320 Ninth street; the deceased came into my store on Thursday morning, between eight and nine o'clock, when Samuel Kane and William Martin came in; the three men carried on a conversation, till between five and six o'clock in the afternoon; they talked upon politics and Free Masonry; Kane said to Porter that he would have satisfaction of the first man he met of that order; he said it was a worthless society, as it admitted all orders and sects to membership; Porter said to Kane, "You belong to a hot-headed disposition party; but as you have a father who is a gentleman, I forgive you for what you have said against myself and the Masons;" Kane made violent threats against Porter, and all of his friends and associates. At a moment when my back was turned, the witness goes on to say, Kane got upon his feet and made aliusion to a remark that the deceased as he alleged, had made in relation to a brother of his (Kane's), who had been transported from the old country to Van Dieman's Land; upon which that Martin did not strike deceased did not lift a hand in his defence; I did not see kane strike him with anything but his fiet, the deceased at the time, was sitting in his chair, and did not rise; I think Kane must have struck him as many as six times; I ran to the assistance of deceased, and separated thom for that time; I am positive that Martin did not strike deceased in the face five or six minutes after. Kane struck deceased again i came into the store during the time, but they could not see anything of it; no one saw the fight but myself and Martin; I have never seen Kane but once before that day; I hear that his general character is bad; he is a man of violent temper and very quarrelsome. I have never seen Martin but once before that day; I do not know where ci ther Kane or Martin are now; I have seen Martin but once since; I think deceased lost six quarts of blood; it soaked a place on the floor six feet in circumference, which was subsequently covered up with saw dust half an inch deep.

a place on the noor sx test in circumference, which was sub-equently covered up with saw dust half an inch deep.

Wm. McCue being sworn, testified to Kane's being a very passionate man, and that he had heard of his fighting in Ireland.

Drs. Monan and Lidell made a post mortem examination of the body, and found that the masal bone was fractured, and the eyes and face black from bruises. The internal organs showed conclurively that the deceased had been very intemperate in his habits. The physicians gave, as their opinion, that death was caused by desirium tremens, hastened by the beating he had received.

At the conclusion of their testimony the case was given to the jury, under a charge by the Coroner, who rendered a verdict that the deceased came to his death by delirium tremens, produced by a loss of blood consequent upon a severe beating at the hands of Samuel Kane. Previous to the death of Porter, Justice Timpson issued a warrant for Kane's arrest, but the latter had fled to parts unknown. Martin, who was a witness to the brutal assault when wanted by the Coroner to testify, could not be found.

Fires.—Yesterday morning, about three o'clock, the attic of house No. 123 Division street was discovered to be on fire, which was seen extinguished by the police. Capt. Brennan of the 6th, and officer Miller of the 10th, were present. Another fire broke out on Sunday afternoon about three o'clock, in a stable, rear of No. 119 Charles st., which was speedily subdued, with but trifling damage. At an alarm of fire on Sunday evening, Hook and Ladder Company No. 8, and Hose Company No. — turned out, and finding no fire, they returned, and on their way they continually used threatening language towards each other, and when opposite the Nineteenth ward station house, where the truck lies, commenced throwing brickbats, and other formidable missiles; but fortunately none were injured. There seems to be some ill feeling between the two companies, which it is hoped the Chief Engineer will put down in his usually prompt manner.

FOR CALIFORNIA.-The steamship Illinois, with a large number of California passengers, left her dock yesterday afternoon for Aspinwall, but was at anchor at Quarantine

A T WASHINGTON MARKET, OCCURRED A SCENE
The people can never forzet,
A few nights ago, if you had been
On hand, you'd have wondered yet.
It has long been a rry—"Who stole my meat?"
"Who has run off with all my frait?"
Thousands of rate got enough there to eat;
New Costar they've got "to boat."
